AT THE THEATERS

Savoy.

When programs are made up for changes at the local theaters the Savoy is certain to have the longest titles, for when Hilda Carl announces her new trio of songs for each half week the song titles are of unusual length, and there is just as much entertainment as rendered by this fascinating singer, as the titles are long. Her three songs tonight will be "Love Is Like a Rose," "Ask Her While the Band is Playing," and "I was All Right When I Was Younger, But I'm All in Now." Hilda will conclude her engagement on Saturday and for tonight tomorrow and Saturday he will appear as the "American Monologue Juggler." His line of comedy in clean and entertaining. The Savoy's pictures are up to the Savoy Standard.

Bijou.

Three excellent attractions at the Bijou this week are giving that large, airy theater capacity houses nightly. Tonight there will be a change of program. The lions will be put through a new series of pieces in their cages to full view of the audience. Madam Schell has perfect control over the great beasts but to spite of her daring with the great lions, she feels that some day something may happen to her. She is constantly on guard. The famous Hildagos have arranged three dances for tonight, tomorrow and Saturday. They make their "presentation," and this is followed by a Spanish song, the "Rastoncito," one of the most difficult presentations. Senor Hildago had the misfortune to cut his foot on coral at Waikiki a day or two ago, but he manages to dance, although he is in considerable pain. Kudo, the one-string violinist, who has made a hit, has been retained on the program and will vary his selections tonight. Tomorrow night is the big amateur night.

Park.

The Park Theater, only lately reopened on a grander scale than ever, with the new stage accessories and ample protection from rain, but with no diminution of cool air to preserve the original purpose of the theater—that of being an entirely open-air proposition—will have a new program for tonight, tomorrow and Saturday night, while Lamb's orchestra has a new program of selections. By special request Jones and O'Brien, who are the best colored team ever introduced here, will present "4-11-44," which they opened with on their arrival in Honolulu. This is one of the funniest sketches ever put on local boards. Their dancing—back and wing—is great. Dolly Groome, who has just finished a successful Chinese impersonation, will appear tonight in a neat white-face act with new and lively songs, dancing and stories, changing her costume three times. New motion pictures.

Empire.

Princess Susana, the midget, who has been giving prima donna selections, attired in a gown, low-cut and en train, giving her the appearance of an adult upon the stage looked at through the small end of the opera glasses, will be the attraction for this weekend at the Empire. Her appearance in long dresses gives her an appearance of thinness, which accentuates her small stature—which is but thirty inches. She has a new and novel act for tonight. "White-tie and Crosson" will sing their last series at the Empire tonight, tomorrow and Saturday, appearing at all the theaters. These two entertainers have been prime favorites at the Empire. The local playing picture films have proven a drawing card.

FORTY YEARS AGO IN JAPAN.

Oriental Review: Dr. William H. H. Griffith, an indefatigable worker always in the cause of world-reconciliation and unity, writes to the Itasca Daily Journal as follows: "Forty years ago, on March 4, 1871, I had finished my journey across the continent and ocean, and through interior Japan; and, escorted by twelve mounted knights and a retinue of feudal officers, rode into the city of Fukuoka, on the west coast of Japan, to organize and train teachers for the first public school of Japan begun on the American system. I remained at this work for four years. It was feudalism, medievalism, and there was nothing modern in interior Japan then. Yet there were minds ready for light and guidance. How colossal the changes. Constitutional government, six million pupils daily in the 20,000 public schools, Japan modernized, and now giving to Formosa, Korea and Yezo, the school, hospital, justice, roads, honest money; and as a loyal pupil of the Anglo-Saxon nation, forward in promoting representative government in Asia. I congratulate my fellow-Americans on the conclusion of an honorable treaty with the people of the nation that can teach us as much as we can teach them—witness the public school teaching of manners and ethics. When will Catholic, Protestant and Hebrew unite to teach the morals that are older than dogma? When will the converted white man learn his limitations and our Christianity be Christ-like?"
